50% of Waveland residents are without city sewerage

BY RANDY PONDER

"People would be astonished to find out what percentage of Waveland is without sewerage," Mayor John Mason stated at the Tuesday night alder-men's meeting.

Mason and city utilities director Steve Landry agreed that about half of Waveland's residents are not connected to city sewerage.

Duke Levy, a private consulting engineer, met with the board, seeking permission to apply for state Community Development Block Grants to address part of the problem. If accepted, the grants would fund the placement of sewer lines in several low to moderate income areas in the city.

Levy said there would be no cost to Waveland to apply for the grants. The deadline is April 5. Even though we have a tight deadline, there is still time, but we must act now," Levy told the "There are several areas in the city that probably qualify for the grants, two in particular. This looks like a good time to apply. I don't believe too many other communities will be competing for the grant money right now, I think we have a good chance to be selected," Levy added. A community must close out,

Council accepts revised budget

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis city officials unanimously adopted a revised budget Tuesday, lowering what it expects to receive in casino revenues and pulling from reserves to pay for a sewer

The mid-budget adjustments also include an adjustment on how the city plans to purchase Christmas decorations and sets aside funds to pay for the purchase of McDonald's Field and other properties.

Mayor Eddie Favre outlined the proposed changes in a workshop Monday, saying the altera-tions should leave the city with a $600,000 ending balance in its general operations coffers and some $550,000 in its utility accounts.

The biggest item in the package was a shift of $1 million from reserves to pay cash for the second and third phases of the city's sewer extension program. Previously, officials had planned to borrow cash for that

Favre said his administration would also be proposing some major repairs to portions of the existing sewer system

Two years ago Bay St. Louis had reduced city taxes 85% due to increased revenues primarily from gaming revenues.

The report indicated with lower interest rates, Bay St. Louis even managed to increase its interest revenue by 132 percent.

The audit showed how Bay St. Louis has increased its funding in public works with such projects as road overlays, sidewalks and drainage work.

The audit also showed how Bay St. Louis had a $1 million increase in cash and $1 million increase in assets.

One thing Dockens mentioned was that gaming revenues will probably be a bif lower this coming year, but the to-repay the $5,564. city is still in a very sound financial condition.

In defense of the administration, Dockens said, "The city asked the grantor to increase the grant to pay additional personnel expense, and the grantor indicated yes, and the city was told to submit the additional expenses. The grantor even paid the additional amount of 55,564 to the grant."

The grantor then came back later and indicated the city owes it back, saying it was never approved, "Apparently they (the grantor) never did the pap-larger building for their offices.

"This would provide the school board a wonderful opportunity to move out of a place they've been squeezed into for many years now," said Ladner. He continued, "We need to work together to build a real fine place."

Some school board members questioned the location of the proposed offices.

Hancock County Schools Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois said, "I am concerned with the travel time it would take my office staff to conduct regular business at the new location.

She also expressed concern that there was a liquor store nearby and that it would give the board a "bad image." However, Ladner pointed out that their current offices are located right next door to a facility that serves alcoholic beverages.

Earlier in the day at the county board meeting attorney Gerald Gex said if the county's proposal were rejected by the school system, school officials would be required to provide their own office accommodations.

Currently the county is paying $800 a month in rent. Ladner said the county was "tired of throwing money down the drain.

Ladner estimated the cost of the proposed building (and 2 acres) at between $80,000 and $90,000. He said the current property owner, Eric Larsen, had offered to accept payments over a period of up to 10 years for the site.

An on-sight visit to the location Tuesday evening had board members questioning capabilities for future expansion and

TOM SHARES THE SAME PROBLEMS-

We can continue economic growth by getting back to basics-rebuild our manufacturing base, straighten out our fiscal policy, and provide Hancock Countians the training and skills they need to get ahead.

Most Hancock Countians, from each district, are worried about the future of our County. The future is ours to make with our hands, our minds, our dreams, and with each other. Together we can give our children and grandchildren what all Hancock Countians deserve- a future with hope.

My experience in construction, building, technical trades, and business, combined with my extensive involvement in community and civic organizations gives me a great insight into the future.

I am a property owner in both the city and county, particularly in the Shoreline Park area, since 1970. I have experienced drainage, road and vital service problems first-hand. In both the city and the county, understand the need to improve the county's infrastructure.

Since the grace period for the Wastewater Disposal Act of 1972 ran out, many residents and out-ofstate property owners have been stopped from building in the county due to the excessive cost of an acceptable sewage treatment system. We have many disgruntled property owners. The county is losing an enormous amount of money as new construction moves else-

Don't forget the annual St. Patrick's Day parade scheduled for Saturday beginning at 2 p.m. in Waveland.

The parade forms on Waveland Avenue by the ball park and proceeds down Central Avenue to Coleman Avenue; Coleman to Beach Boulevard; Beach to Lafitte Drive; Lafitte to Central Avenue; and Central to St. Joseph to disband.

The annual parade is sponsored by the Waveland Civic Association, and president Jay Lagasse told me Tuesday he felt this year's parade will be one of the largest ever.

He reported receiving more requests to participate in the parade then ever before.

Don't forget the corned beef and cabbage dinner the American Legion Auxiliary will be serving starting at 11 a.m. Saturday. Donation is $5 per plate.

There will also be Irish stew, hot dogs, desserts and refreshments available.

I hope to see you at the St. Patrick's Day parade Saturday.

There is good news for those who have been wanting a signal light at the intersection of U.S. Highway 90 and Washington Street.

Numerous requests have been made by Bay St. Louis officials to the Department of Transportation to have signal lights installed at Hwy. 90 and Washington. This goes back many administrations.

I am just glad that the state is finally coming across. Many of us know of the number of serious accidents which have occurred at that particular intersection.

Apparently the way Washington Street approaches the highway has something to do with the number of accidents.

Anyway, the State Department of Transportation is now advertising for bids for the placement of signal lights at the Washington Street/Hwy. 90 intersection.

The state is also advertising for the installation of new traffic signals at the Highway 90/Main Street intersection in Bay St. Louis.

The City of Bay St. Louis just last week put the finishing touches on the new turning lane on the east lane of Highway 90 at that intersection.

Traffic signals are good, but, one must remember, we all have to observe them in order for them to do the job. I am told track records by the Department of Transfortation will indicate there will be a number of vehides rear-ended when the new signals are put into place.

I know several persons who have been involved in accidents at Hwy. 90/Washington, including a sister-in-

The bids are to be opened by the Department of ransportation on March 28, and a completion date has been set for July 31 on both the Main Street and Washington Street signal lights.

One of the things we hate to see at the newspaper is the loss of power, because it completely shuts us down. This happened Wednesday morning as many of us were in the process of writing stories. I was talking to a lady on the telephone getting information on a cheerleader dance and had just about all of it written and was getting her name and telephone number when a big boom sounded as the lights went out, along with the story and a cutline on my computer. I apologize to the lady, but when the power went down, so did the story I was getting from her, along with our telephone system. Anyway, since I did not have her name down and telephone number, I was unable to contact her to re-write

By the way, if some of you tried to reach us and it sounded as if we were not answering our telephones, it was because we do not receive the rings with our telephone system when the power is down.

March is Wildfire Prevention Month

Gov. Kirk Fordice has proclaimed the month of March as. "Think Twice!" Wildfire Prevention Month in Mississippi.

The governor, along with the Mississippi Forestry Commission, urges everyone to join in the Think Twice! campaign to reduce the possibility of a dangerous, uncontrolled and unlawful wildfire.

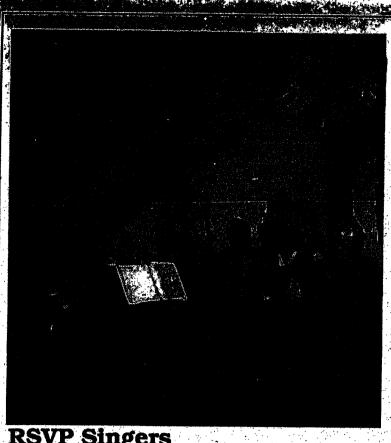

March has historically been one of the state's highest wildfire occurrence month when many acres of wildlands are damaged or lost to destructive wildfires. While the wildfire prevention message is a statewide effort, the Think Twice! campaign theme is a direct result of the aftermath of the ice storm of February 1994 in north Mississippi,

A dangerous situation exists with the accumulation of storm debris along with normal seasonal accumulations of branches, fallen leaves and pine

The Think Twice! wildfire prevention effort is funded jointly by the Mississippi Forestry Commission and the Federal Emergency Management Agency to help protect families, homes and property in north Mississippi.

The governor said it is the responsibility of concerned citizens to protect their families and homes to be careful when burning trash and debris, and to be intensely aware of this potentially dangerous

FROM THE MISSISSIPPI HOUSE

By Representative Harry Frierson

The Mississippi House of Representatives, working at a stepped up pace, gave its approval to a lengthy series of bills during the past week, including a measure declaring the way for payment of tax refunds to a group of federal retirees in the state.

The legislation involves federal retirees who contend they were unjustly left out last year following a State Supreme Court ruling involving income tax payments on federal retirement benefits during the years 1985 through 1989.

The bill will enable the Tax Commission to pay claims from federal retirees who initially failed to submit amended returns for the five years involved. Similar refunds already have been paid to other federal retireees who turned in amended returns.

The House voted to amend several Senate bills to conform to language in earlier Housepassed bills, returning the measure to the Senate for concurrence or non-concurrence. Other bills won final approval and now go to the Governor, including proposals to establish telecommunications fraud as a separate offense under the state's criminal laws; provide for licensing and regulation of auctioneers; clarify the State Transportation Commission's authority to purchase and install traffic control devices on state highways located in municipalities; and allow proceeds of bonds authorized previously for three new veterans homes to also be used for equipping and furnishing the facilities.

The House also approved bills that would prohibit state agencies from purchasing fullsize or utility vehicles except under certain situations; revise the bag limits for hunting deer; authorize a new program to assist in development of small towns; direct the legislative PEER committee to make a detailed assessment of unfunded federal mandates; require health care service insurance plans to include access to obstetricians and gynecologists as a reimbursable expense, and include mammography screening as directed by a physician; Create a a 10-member advisory commission to study management and preservation of local governmental records and submit its findings to the 1996 legislative session; make several technical changes in Public Employees Retirement System

Change the name of the Central Data Processing Authority to the Mississippi Department of Information Technology Services and redefine its responsibilities, including coordination of telecommunications systems

Mother concerned about crossing 90 at Washington

I was shocked when I read the Sea Coast Echo Sunday. I'm. so glad the new turning lane is in place at the intersection of Hwy. 90 and Main Street.

I know it is more important for cars to be able to turn onto 90 so that there is no traffic jam for the casino entrance. It is okay for our children to travel to school every day trying to cross Hwy. 90 at Washington Street.

I have to travel this intersection because it is the only exit for our subdivision. I put my life and my son's life in jeopardy every time we cross this intersection.

There have been so many accidents at this intersection for years. According to the Sea Coast Echo, we had funds appropriated years ago to install a traffic light at this intersection.

My son has reached the driving age, but because of the peril at this intersection, I will not allow him to drive.

Citizens of Bay St. Louis, it looks like our elected officials are more concerned with casino traffic than our children's lives.

Resident feels Tourism Commission necessary

To the Editor:

I was appalled to see the executive director of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce opposes the creation of a Hancock County Tourism Development Commission.

It is my understanding that the executive director of any organization involved in any public matters is required to express the opinions of the board of directors of the organization. cannot believe that the board of directors of the chamber does not recognize the financial benefit that the county could achieve by the formation of the commission. As you are aware, my wife, tourism for the city of Bay St Louis. She devotes many hours each week encouraging tourism for the city and for the county. There is no question that more can and should be done to enhance tourism in this area,

Patt, is the unpaid director of however, only so much can be done by one volunteer. Since I started this letter here in my office, I have answered two tourism inquiries and received one tourism fax.

If I had not been writing this leter, these inquiries would have been unanswered, as Patt is presently attending a supervisors' meeting concerning tourism.

It would be nice to have a paid staff to be available 40 hours a week, not only to be available for those inquiries, but to also aggressively seek additional tourists.

As a point of interest, my wife is not seeking a paid position with the commission if formed. As president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, I do hope you will lend the support of the chamber and the director.

Very truly yours, Irwin L. Cucullu Bay St. Louis

Opportunity to bring reform is now

The 104th Congress has a unique opportunity to bring about reforms in the way business is done in Washington. Campaign finance reform and lobbying reform didn't make the top 10 list of the "Contract with America," but they should have. Guess who made the following statements? Congress is a broken system. It is increasingly a system of corruption in which money politics is defeating and driving out citizens." The same person said that political action committees (PACs) are a "grotesque distortion of the popular will" and that Congress should "punish wrongdoers in politics and government and pass reform laws to clean up the election and lobbying system." The name of the person making those comments might surprise you. It is none other than new Speaker of the House Newt Gingrich. In fact, just a few years ago Speaker Gingrich. said that the present-day Congress is "the most unrepresentative and corrupt of the modern era." Now is the time to see if his actions will speak louder than his words, and for Congress to put an end to the special interest money that attempts to influence government

During last November's election, the 74 newly elected members of Speaker Gingrich's party spent $43.7 million, an average of $590,880 per candidate.

Their Democratic oponents spent $52.6 million, an average of 710,700 per candidate. spent $175,853, and regret that I had to do so.

Congress should pass a bill that will limit PAC contributions to $1,000 per group, require that one-half of any candidate's funds would have to be raised within is congressional district and require that no more than 50 percent of a candidate's contributions come from individuals who contribute $200 or more. We can make these reforms without asking taxpayers to foot the bill for public funding of elections.

It's also real easy to put an end to lobbyists spending money on Congressmen and their staffs for gifts, free trips and free entertainment. The Lobbying Disclosure Act, which was killed by Repubicans at the end of the 103rd Congress, would have done just that. Special interests must never prevail over the interests of citizens and influence buying must go.

If the new Speaker felt Congress was corrupt when he made his statements, nothing has been done since then, in the way of campaign and lobbying reform, that would end the influence of special interests groups. I'm waiting to see if the new speaker and the new majority take the opportunity to fix what they said needs fixing to change how Congress

"We will gather the information, put it into a packet and let you know how much money would be involved. The city would then have the option to proceed with the grant process or to stop at that point. If you decide not to seek the grant, the city would not owe us any money," Levy explained. Administrative costs are built into the grant.

"Ward One Alderman Tommy Longo stated, "We are all committed to improving the sewer system in Waveland. We have to start somewhere. I don't care where or how as long as we get started.

The board voted to authorize the preparation of the grants and to advertise public hearings on the matter.

The meeting started with input from the public. The only person speaking was concerned that a light at the Coleman Avenue Soccer Field had not been replaced as promised.

"At the last aldermen's meeting, Mayor Mason told me that an electrician had been notified to replace the light. It has not been done. How long does it take to change one light?"

Mason replied that the electrician did not have a lift bucket that would reach the light. Mason then stated that the light belonged to Mississippi Power Company, not to the city, and that the power company would have to replace the light.

In another matter, the board voted to accept a proposal from Fuelman to provide credit cards and accounting support for the purchase of fuel for city vehicles. A weekly report will show the date, name of the person buying fuel, vehicle, odometer reading, miles per gallon, fuel type and weekly useage and

The proposal can be canceled after six months if the mayor and aldermen do not believe it enefits the city.

The board also approved the purchase of a new printer for the water and gas department from BBI, Inc. of Pearl in the amount of $4,900. Programming and installation is an additional $2,300, bringing the total cost to $7,200. The city will et a $600. trade-in allowance for their old printer.

In January, 894 tickets were issued by the Mississippi Highway Patrol to drivers in violation of the seat belt law, and another 291 tickets were issued to those failing to have infants and toddlers in a proper child restraint seat.

As of July 1, 1994, drivers failing to buckle up could be fined $25. Failure to place children up to the age of four in an approved safety seat could result in an additional $25 fine per child.

This is serious business to us," said Col. Jay F. Clark, MHP director. "Motorists failing to strap on their seat belt or secure their children, can expect a ticket from the Highway Patrol.

Treasure Bay to sell Tunica casino

Treasure Bay Gaming & Resort Inc. has signed a letter of intent with Overline Development Corporation of Dallas, Texas, to sell the Treasure Bay Casino in Tunica County.

The letter of agreement is subject to numerous conditions, including execution of a definitive agreement for the sale. The sale is also contingent on approval from the U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Biloxi, where a Chapter 11 petition involving Treasure Bay Corp. is pending.

The purchase price and other details of the negotiations were not available. The intent is that the casino would remain open during the transition.

"We have long-term confidence in the Tunica market, and with the proper infusion of capital to build a hotel and RV park, the property will be competitive," said Bernie Burkholder, chairman and CEO of Treasure Bay.

We are moving forward with the negotiations and, at this point, I am hopeful that Overline has both the vision and financial strength to complete the job Treasure Bay started in

The bottom line here is that we hope to complete a transaction that benefits customers and secures the jobs of some really great employees," added Burkholder.

Treasure Bay Corp. also owns a casino in Biloxi, and there are no plans to sell this property. Both vessels are replicas of 18th century Caribbean

"I think, presently, the health and human service agencies of South Mississippi have done a good job in the attempt to meet the needs of the community.

"However, since there has not been a needs assessment conducted since 1988, I am encouraged by the fact that if we have a more updated needs assessment, these service agencies can better meet the needs of the community," said Dr. Terrell.

"Obviously, the population and demographics of the community have changed. I have a genuine interest in meeting the needs of the community and I am excited about being a part of the Tri-County Needs Assessment."

The needs assessment will help to build a common understanding and statistically valid picture of the emerging needs of the community.

Results of the survey, which will be available mid-summer. will be provided to the public for use by businesses, govern-ments, social service and health agencies to plan programs and strategies.

United Way of South Mississippi will use the results to determine funding and admission priorities for the next two to three years.

For information or to volunteer to help with the needs assessment, contact the United Way at 863-4884 or 467-9501.

More donors are needed to help save the life of hospitalized patients. While 50% of the population meets the age, weight and health requirements, only 5% of the popula-tion donates blood for the needs of all . . . and this isn't enough. Statistics show that one out of every three persons will' require at least one blood transfusion during their lifetime. Often blood is a matter of life and death. For example, if an accident victim has lost large quantities of blood, the red cells must be replaced immediately to restore his oxygen-carrying capacity. Platelets and white blood cell components may go to cancer and leukemia patients to help control bleeding and sustain their life. Burn victims often need the portion of blood called plasma.

When you donate, you are helping save the life of at least three different people. If you are at least 17 years of age, weigh at least 110 pounds and are in good health, you can help keep the blood supply at a safe level for family, friends and neighbors. There is no upper age limit

Special to the Echo

By Ann Whiddon
Members and guests of the American Legion Post and Auxiliary 77 took an imaginary trip down Broadway and 42nd Street to the plush St. James Theatre.

The King and Queen of ALA XII and their Royal Court were presented on Saturday night, Feb. 25, in a coronation ball celebrated to the theme "Broadway Musicals."

The twinkling red, white and blue lights on the Krewe of ALA emblem were illuminated, and as the spotlight centered on the American flag, Mrs. J. R. Pierce sang the "Star Spangled Banner."

The festivities began with the presentation of Post 77 Commander Richard Bessey and his lovely wife Dorothy, and president of the auxiliary, Isabel Crais, escorted by Al

Welcome and hail again to the 1994 King and Queen of ALA XI, their serene majesties King Richard Smith and Queen Felipa Slack. As they bade farewell to their subjects, the band played "I Could Have Danced All Night."

When the captain's whistle sounded, Peggy Holcomb and Kenneth Wilkerson were introduced while Clem Tocas' band, under the direction of Owen McPeek, played "Give My Regards to Broadway."

Other officers introduced were Myrtle Blanchard and Martin O. Blanchard Jr., Ann Whiddon and Toxie Hall, Elaine Sconza and Warren Norton, as the band played "Let Me Entertain You.'

Presentation of the Royal Court of the Krewe of ALA XII. 1995, recently selected by secret ballot, began with Maid Velma Schmitt and Duke Danny Carter to the strains of "There's No Business Like Show Business" from the Broadway hit "Annie Get Your Gun."

In 1950 "Guys and Dolls" was a Broadway sensation from which the music "Luck be a Lady Tonight" is chosen to accompany Maid Anette Davis and Duke Scott Ulrich.

A medley of tunes from "The King and I" was played for the promenade of Maid Helen Coleman and Duke Roy Carver.

A spectacular hit in 1957, "The Music Man," provides the medley for Maid June Chimera and Duke Fulton Chimera.

"Hello Dolly" was the memorable production which gave us the music for our presentation of Maid Judy Bergeron and Duke Tommy Bergeron.
The 1966 Broadway musical

'Mame' provides the enchanting music for the presentation of Maid Hope Glatt and Duke Henry Bearman to complete the royal court.

In the longstanding tradition of the Krewe of ALA, the identities of the king and queen are kept secret until the coronation.

Then the moment that everyone had been waiting for arrived: His Royal Majesty, King ALA XIII is Anthony Sconza. Co-captain Peggy Holcomb escorted King Anthony as he proceeded around the ballroom greeting his loyal subjects, and the band played "If Ever I Cease to Love. Janice Carver was crowned Queen ALA XII. With a vivacious smile and wearing a long white gown decorated with gem stones, her Royal Majesty, Queen Janice, escorted by Kenneth Wilkerson, greeted her subjects and proceeded to her place on the royal throne beside King ALA XII.

While the band played popular hits of yesteryear, their majesties received the royalty of 1994 and other honored guests were presented to them.

The spotlight was shone about the room, lingering at the tables where guests from other Legion posts were seated. The Royal Court was honored by the presence of several officers from the State Department Auxiliary.

Revelers from the Krewe of ALA provided a second line. Bedecked in colorful costumes, they carried gayly decorated umbrellas and strings of many colored beads, which were tossed to the admiring audience.

The featured attraction for the evening's entertainment of theroyal court and the audience was a sparkling tap dance rou-tine performed by the Broad-way Girls from the musical hit movie, "Stepin' Out," and the Arabesque School of Dance,

While the band played softly, a champagne toast to King and Queen ALA XII was enjoyed, after which their majesties led the Grand March.

Coronation ceremonies closed with the lighting of the colors to the music of "You're a Grand Ol' Flag."

In the spirit and tradition of carnival the celebration continued as the audience joined in the dancing. General chairmen for the ball were Gloria Norton and Raymond Norton.

PRCC River Extravaganza raises a record $50,400

The Pearl River Community opportunity to receive $250,000 College River Extravaganza grossed a record $50,400 during its eighth annual event in Poplarville Sunday.

Sponsored by the PRCC Development Foundation, the fund-raising event included food from 15 restaurants, a concert and an auction. It was the first time the gross total was more than $50,000.

"Extravaganza support continues to amaze me," said Donna Wilson, executive director of the foundation and the driving force behind the foundation's biggest fund-raiser of the year.

An event of this magnitude would not be possible without the help of hundreds of dedicated individuals who have Pearl River at heart," said

Wilson said it will take several days for all auction items to be claimed and for accounting to release the official net income from the event. Last year's gross was $45,000.

"Your contributions will have a direct influence on the students from our six-county district," said PRCC President Ted Alexander. He also praised the Foundation Board of Directors for their untiring efforts in making the event one of the most successful in the state. The money raised here tonight will go where it is needed most," Alexander said. "By your participation, more people will have an opportunity for a better quality of life." Money raised from The Extravaganza will help PRCC meet its Endowment Challenge goal. PRCC has the unique from the U.S. Department of Education when the college raises $125,000 by April. Pearl River is the only two-vear school in the nation to receive the endowment challenge. When the goal is met. PRCC will have more than $500,000 toward its $1 million endowment goal. In less than seven years the Foundation has raised more than $1.5 million from private sources. The Foundation has also funded $440,000 in scholarships for more than 1,500 students. More than $100,000 in student loans and $70,000 in teacher grants have been distributed.

Country music recording artist Ronnie McDowell performed as the highlight of the Extravaganza. McDowell, last year's performing artist, returned to the PRCC stage by popular demand. Performing with McDowell was Scotty. Moore, Elvis Presley's original guitarist and manager.

McDowell's five-year-old son. Tyler, also performed a duet with his dad on stage. McDowell was so interested in what PRCC is doing that he purchased one of the auction items.

Fifteen restaurants from Hattiesburg to the Gulf Coast provided food for the 730 patrons who paid $30 a ticket to attend.

"I am so excited and grateful to have so many restaurant owners and their associates to participate year after year," Wilson said. "Without their participation, the Extravaganza would only be a dream." PRCC welcomed PC's Family Seafood Restaurant of Wiggins as a new participant this year.

Picayune Ford Motors dealer Dub "Paw Paw" Herring led the auction, assisted by Kelly Sanner of WDAM TV in Hattiesburg. News anchors Jeff Lawson and Gurvir Dhindsa of WLOX TV in Biloxi were emcees. Chad Simmons and Texas Flatt performed during the opening event.

The rental of a motor home for one week and a fax paper copying machine were the largest dollar items sold during the auction. Alexander rented the motor home and A. J. Gendusa bought the fax. Both paid $800 for their auction items.

Wilson said the fund raiser netted 83 percent of the retail value on items auctioned.

Jeanette Crain of Columbia, vice-chair of the Foundation, was chair of The Extravaganza, Doug Mooney of Picayune is chairman and Dr. Homer Moody of Poplarville is secretary-treasurer.

Foundation board members include Ott Brockman and Harrison Ford of Hattiesburg, Jim Thriffiley of Bay St. Louis, Tony Waits of Prentiss, Howell Purvis of Purvis, Sid Malone of Hattiesburg, Berlon Lee of Columbia, Larry Barker and John Pigott of Picayane and Bob Applewhite of Poplarville, Lewis Murray of Bogalusa, La., Emmett Foxworth of Marrero, La., and Francis Herrin of Metairie, La.

The foundation's overall goal for the year is $200,000.

BOD teacher celebrates 25 years

After 25 years of teaching at Bay Catholic Elementary School, Kay Gleber still loves her job, and the word "retirement" is not part of her vocabulary.

Gleber has experienced much change during her career, including 11 principals, the merger of Our Lady of the Gulf and St. Rose de Lima schools into BCE, and now students who seem to "know more."

The children seem to know more now," said Gleber, as she reflected on her years in education, "but that is because they have been exposed to so much more by the time they get to Gleber started in 1961, teaching a class of 45 first graders in one classroom. She was the first lay teacher in a Catholic school, served by nuns, to prepare young Catholics for First Communion. Such a change caused apprehension among parents, she added.

After taking a few years off to start her family, Gleber resumed teaching full-time in 1974 and in the past 21 years has taught every grade from Kindergarten to grade six. Gleber taught two of her five children, all of whom attended the school. She has now started teaching the second generation, including not only her own grandchild, but the children of some of her former students.

The Bay Catholic PTO pre-sented Gleber with a gift of a small angel statue to commemorate her 25 years of teaching.

PRCC Lady Wildcats make history with Region 23 win

The third time is a charm. After knocking on the Region 23 title door three straight years, the Pearl River Community College Lady Wildcats are headed to the NJCAA national basketball tournament."

It's the first time in PRCC basketball history that a team has advanced to the final national tournament.

Elaine Powell scored 46 points to lead PRCC to a heartstopping 81-74 decision over the Coahoma Lady Tigers in Clinton Thursday night and the right to go to the big dance in Tyler, Texas, March 13-18.

But the game was not decided until the last minute when Elaine's older sister Karen Powell hit a three-pointer to put PRCC up 77-74. Karen later blocked a three-point attempt to stop Coahoma's come-back

"It's our turn," said Kirkland. "These girls deserve it. They have worked hard for the chance to go to the national
